1. Introduction

The Charities Regulatory Authority (“the Charities Regulator”) is committed to high standards of corporate governance. This is particularly important given the need for the organisation to embody the standards that it sets for others.

This Governance Framework is intended to assure that the Charities Regulator as an organisation, has all key aspects of governance in place and is actively keeping its governance procedures under review. The Governance Framework is also intended to explain clearly to our stakeholders and to the wider public, how we govern the organisation and how key responsibilities are assigned within the Charities Regulator.

The Governance Framework forms part of the Charities Regulator’s overall Governance and Assurance Framework. It reflects the legislation under which it was established, government guidelines including the Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies \(2016\) (“the Code”) and organisational arrangements and practices for directing and controlling the business of the Charities Regulator.

Corporate governance as described in the Code (pg. 4) comprises “the systems and procedures by which organisations are directed, controlled and managed.” Furthermore, it says that State bodies should serve the “interests of Government as shareholder, the taxpayer, and all other stakeholders, and pursue value for money in their endeavours, including managing risk appropriately”. The Code advises that State bodies “should act prudently, ethically and with transparency as public entities and should conduct their activities consistent with their statutory responsibilities.”

1.1 Purpose and Scope of the Corporate Governance Framework

The Charities Regulator’s Corporate Governance Framework is intended as a guide for everyone who works for, and on behalf of, the Charities Regulator, as well as those we serve. It sets out the standards of conduct we expect from our employees and office holders, our values, and the governance systems and procedures, to which we seek to adhere. All Charities Regulator staff, Board members and committee members have a role to play in ensuring the principles of good governance are adhered to, and that the Charities Regulator complies with the Code.

1.2 A living framework

The objective for this Governance Framework is to assure the Board and other stakeholders that:

- The Charities Regulator’s systems of accountability and responsibility, including its compliance arrangements, are effective, robust, clear, and identifiable; and
- The Framework evolves so that the Charities Regulator can better adapt to social, political, technological, environmental and economic changes. The Framework should demonstrate the potential for continuous improvement and development and is therefore intended to be a living document which will evolve in line with best practice.

The Chief Executive and the Board of the Charities Regulator will review the Framework on a periodic basis as necessary to assess its effectiveness and update the Framework as further policies are developed and adopted.

2. Overview of the Charities Regulator

2.1 Governing Legislation

The Charities Regulator was established on 16 October 2014, when the Charities Act 2009 (“The Act”) was commenced. The Charities Regulator was initially established under the aegis of the Department of Justice and Equality, its functions were transferred to the Department of Rural and Community Development on 26 July 2017 by the Charities (Transfer of Departmental Administration and Ministerial Functions) Order 2017.

The Charities Regulator is responsible for the regulation of charitable organisations (‘charities’) and the protection of charitable assets.

2.2 Functions of the Charities Regulator

The key functions of the Charities Regulator are set out in the Charities Act 2009 which are to:

- Increase public trust and confidence in the management and administration of charitable trusts and charitable organisations,
- Promote compliance by charity trustees with their duties in the control and management of charitable trusts and charitable organisations,
- Promote the effective use of the property of charitable trusts or charitable organisations,
- Ensure the accountability of charitable organisations to donors and beneficiaries of charitable gifts, and the public,
- Promote understanding of the requirement that charitable purposes confer a public benefit,
- Establish and maintain a register of charitable organisations,
- Ensure and monitor compliance by charitable organisations with the Act,
- Carry out investigations in accordance with the Act,
- Encourage and facilitate the better administration and management of charitable organisations by the provision of information or advice, including in particular by way of issuing (or, as it considers appropriate, approving) guidelines, codes of conduct, and model constitutional documents,
- Carry on such activities or publish such information (including statistical information) concerning charitable organisations and charitable trusts as it considers appropriate, and
- Provide information (including statistical information) or advice, or make proposals, to the Minister on matters relating to the functions of the Regulator.

The Charities Regulator also has functions under the Charities Act 1961 and 1973 in relation to the provision of services to charities, including authorising the appointment of new charity trustees, the approval of Cy-Près schemes and the authorisation of dispositions of lands held upon charitable trusts.

2.3 Mission, Vision and Values

The Charities Regulator's Vision, as set out in the Strategy Statement 2022 to 2024 is:
"A vibrant, trusted charity sector that is valued for the public benefit it provides."

and its Mission is:

"To regulate the charity sector in the public interest to ensure compliance with charity law and support best practice in the governance and administration of charities."

The Charities Regulator's values as set out in the Strategy Statement are:

- Independence
- Fairness
- Proportionality
- Accountability
- Respect

3. Strategic Direction and Business Planning

3.1 Corporate Strategy

Statement of Strategy

The Charities Regulator is required to adopt a Statement of Strategy (“Strategy”) on a three-yearly basis in accordance with Section 29 Charities Act, 2009. The Strategy is submitted to the Minister who then arranges for a copy to be laid before each house of the Oireachtas. This document outlines the key strategic objectives for the period in question and is the basis for the Regulator’s annual business plans. The Board has adopted its third Statement of Strategy 2022-2024.

Process for setting strategy

The Charities Regulator’s Strategy is prepared following discussions internally and consultation, with our stakeholders. A copy of the Strategy is submitted to the Minister in respect of the period of three years immediately following the year in which the Strategy is so submitted.

Progress against the Strategy is reviewed on a regular basis by the Board to assess if the objectives and metrics identified are being met, to reflect on achievements, to consider resources available, or any obstacles or risks to achieving the remaining objectives.

3.2 Business Planning

The Charities Regulator’s annual Business Plan sets out how it will carry out specific actions, which will deliver the high level objectives in the Strategy.

The preparation and implementation of an annual Business Plan is central to guiding and monitoring progress at an organisational and individual level. The Charities Regulator’s Board approves the annual Business Plan and budget, and monitors performance and progress at each Board meeting via a Business Plan Tracker mechanism.

The Charities Regulator links its strategic and annual goals to the work of the Charities Regulator’s Executive Team (“ET”), and its staff, through the Charities Regulator’s performance management development system (“PMDS”). This allows employees to see exactly how their individual work contributes to the achievement of the Charities Regulator’s strategic objectives.

3.3 Annual Report

The Act requires that the Charities Regulator shall, not later than 30 June in each year, prepare and submit to the Minister a report on its activities (the Annual Report) in the immediately preceding year, and the Minister, having received the report, shall lay copies of the report before each House of the Oireachtas.

The Charities Regulator shall then arrange for the report to be published on the internet as soon as practicable after copies of the report have been laid before each House of the Oireachtas.

The Annual Report outlines the Charities Regulator's main achievements in line with its strategic objectives and other developments during the previous year. The Annual Report and Financial Statements provide the information necessary for an assessment of the Charities Regulator's financial performance, financial position, business model and strategy.

4. External Stakeholders

The organisation consists of a number of business units which have responsibility for Compliance and Enforcement, Registration, Charity Services, Legal Affairs, Corporate Affairs, Finance, Human Resources and Communications and Stakeholder Engagement.

6. Accountability of the Board

6.1 The Board

Subject to the Charities Act 2009, the Board is independent in the performance of its functions and it may perform any of its functions through or by any member of staff of the Charities Regulator duly authorised in that behalf by the Board.

The powers and responsibilities of the Board are exercised collectively by its members, each of whom has statutory and fiduciary duties (i.e. the duty to act in good faith, and in the best interests of the Charities Regulator), in discharging them. The Board is accountable to the Minister for Rural and Community Development, and the Oireachtas, for the overall performance of the organisation and for exercising its public responsibilities by acting within the context of the public interest.

The Board is responsible for good governance by setting strategic objectives and targets and taking strategic decisions on all key business issues. The Board leads and directs the activities of the Charities Regulator and supervises the discharge of delegated functions. The Board is responsible for holding the Chief Executive to account for the effective performance of their responsibilities.

The Board is accountable for the overall performance of the organisation, for putting in place the necessary organisational and management framework, and has a fiduciary duty in relation to the Charities Regulator's affairs and finances.

The Board is required to act on a fully informed basis, in good faith, with due diligence and care, and in the best interest of the Charities Regulator, having due regard to legal responsibilities and the objectives set by Government. The Board has a key role in setting the ethical tone and culture of the Charities Regulator, leading by example and ensuring that good standards of governance and ethical behaviours permeate through all levels of the organisation. The Charities Regulator has adopted a Code of Business Conduct for Members of the Board and its committee members in accordance with the Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies (2016).

6.2 Collective and Individual Responsibilities of Members of the Board

When considering responsibilities in the Charities Regulator, its role and remit is the first point of reference. The Charities Regulator was established under the Charities Act 2009 ("the Act"). Its mission as set out in its strategy is "to regulate the charity sector in the public interest to ensure compliance with charity law and support best practice in the governance and administration of charities." The Charities Regulator uses the provisions of the Act to serve as the Terms of Reference for the Board - Schedule 1 of the Act sets out the role of the Board. It has also set up Standing Orders – rules to manage the Board. The Charities Regulator also complies with the provisions of the Code regarding the Role of the Board as set out in section 1 of the Code of Governance for State Bodies \(2016\). All members of the Board are expected to contribute to the Board's deliberations and are encouraged to engage constructively. At the same time, the Board is required to guard against any attempts by a member, or members, to exert excessive influence over decision making. The Chairperson is responsible for promoting a culture in the Board room which supports openness and debate and facilitates effective contributions from Board members and members of the Executive Team and staff alike.

The Board operates on the principles of collective responsibility, support and respect, integrity, confidentiality, loyalty and fairness. Decisions by the Board are normally made by consensus rather than by formal vote. Failing a consensus, decisions are made by a vote. In certain circumstances, it may be necessary for the Board to make a decision in the period between scheduled meetings and the Board has established Standing Orders to facilitate decisions between scheduled meetings.

Individual responsibilities of each member of the Board

While there is a suite of policies and procedures in place supporting appropriate Board governance, members of the Board of the Charities Regulator have individual responsibility for:

- Discharging their fiduciary duties including avoiding any conflicts of interest;
- Allocating sufficient time to discharge their responsibilities effectively including:
 - Preparing well for Board and Committee meetings by reading the meeting papers;
 - Attending all Board meetings; and
 - Attending any committee meetings of which they are a member;
- Contributing as appropriate to Board or Committee discussion; and
- Bringing independent judgment to bear on matters before the Board.

The Board meets at least 9 times annually and minutes of its meetings are published on the Charities Regulator's website.

6.3 Effectiveness of the Board

As per the Code, good governance suggests that all governing bodies should undertake periodically an evaluation of their effectiveness to assure the organisation and the Board that it remains effective in implementing the legal, regulatory and governance obligations of the organisation. The Board undertakes an annual self-assessment of its own performance and that of its committees.

The Board continually monitors its governance structures including reviewing and updating its reserved and delegated functions where necessary. The FARG Committee reviews the terms of references for all committees annually, with the Board reviewing every three years.

In addition to the above, an external assessment is performed by an external party every three years, as required by the Code. The Board embraces initiatives which assist in improving its overall effectiveness. The evaluation process incorporates an analysis of the gender, diversity and skills mix within the Board, as required by the Annex \(2020\) to the Code of Practice for the Governance of State Bodies on Gender Balance, Diversity and Inclusion.

Further to the Code, the Charities Regulator adheres to its obligations contained within the annual Oversight and Assurance Agreements with its parent department, Department of Rural and Community Development (“DRCD”), which sets out in broad terms the corporate governance arrangements in place and the roles and responsibilities of the parties in terms of supporting, communicating, meeting and delivering on those arrangements in a number of areas including strategic plans, financial statements and internal audit. The Agreement also addresses performance delivery by reference to required financial and human resource inputs, planned targets, deliverables and potential risk factors.

6.4 Functions of the Board and their delegation

The Board retains overall responsibility for the discharge of the key functions of the Charities Regulator as specified in the Charities Act 2009.

This is in order to ensure that the process undertaken under the Guidelines for Appointments to State Boards identifies candidates with those skills and so that the Minister may take the Chairperson's views into consideration when making appointments from qualified candidates from the stateboards.ie process, (as per 2.4 of the Code, pg. 18).

8.5 Role of Charities Regulator's Staff

The duties for all roles are documented and all staff are assigned goals each year and their performance against their goals is monitored.

9. Codes of Conduct, Ethics in Public Office; Disclosure of Interests and Protected Disclosures

9.1 Code of Conduct for Board and Committee Members

As a governing body, the Board of the Charities Regulator adopts and complies with appropriate standards of conduct. The Board has approved a Code of Business Conduct for Members of the Charities Regulator and its committees whose general principles include integrity, confidentiality, loyalty and fairness. This Code requires members of the Board and its committee members to act at all times in accordance with the law and to perform their duties to the highest ethical standards in compliance with the obligations and responsibilities set out in the Code and in the Ethics in Public Office Act 1995 and Standards in Public Office Act 2001 (hereafter "the Ethics Acts") and the Charities Act 2009.

The Board has a key role in setting the ethical tone of the State body and ensuring that good governance standards and ethical behaviour permeate all levels of the organisation. The following controls are in place to support appropriate behaviour in the Charities Regulator: process for submitting annual statements of interest to SIPO from Board members and relevant staff members; Code of Business Conduct; Conflict of Interest Policy, Fraud and Corruption Prevention and Reporting policy and a range of corporate policies and procedures.

9.2 Disclosure of certain interests

The Board of the Charities Regulator and committees

The Charities Regulator has developed a Conflicts of Interest Policy for its Board and committee members, the aim of which is to prevent conflict of interest scenarios from arising where possible and if any conflict(s) of interest does arise that it is managed in such a way that the independence and integrity of the decisions of the Board, its committees and staff are neither compromised nor perceived as being compromised.

To avoid conflicts of interest each Board or Committee member must furnish to the Board Secretary details of his or her employment, and all other business interests including shareholdings, which could be perceived as posing a conflict of interest, or could materially influence his or her functions as a member of the Board or Committee of the Charities Regulator.

Board and Committee members should be mindful of the potential for a non-financial conflict, by virtue of membership or holding office in a charity or public body and the particular nature of the matter being discussed.

Each Board or Committee member of the Charities Regulator is responsible for ensuring that any change to their interests which could be perceived as influencing their work with the Charities Regulator, is notified to the Board Secretary in order that the 'Confidential Register of Interests' can be updated, which is in line with provision 5.8 of the Code of Practice for the governance of state bodies. (Note: details of interests disclosed are kept by the Secretary of the Board and Governance Policy Manager in a special confidential register).

The Conflict of Interest Policy's objective is to assist the Board and sub-Committee members make decisions free from any external influences, whether personal, professional, financial or non-financial. The guiding principle when declaring interests, is that matters need only be declared which in the perception of others, might be seen to give material or other advantage to the Board or Committee member, or a 'connected person' for example a relative, her/his close family members, or business or professional partner either directly or indirectly.

The Standing Orders of the Board and of the Committees also provide that each member should declare any conflict of interest with regard to a particular agenda item at the beginning of a meeting. The member must then absent himself or herself from the meeting or that part of the meeting during which the matter is being discussed. In the event of a member not appreciating at the beginning of a discussion that an interest exists, the member shall declare such an interest as soon as he or she becomes aware of it. In any case of doubt, the member should openly declare the possibility of interest.

9.3 Breaches of conflicts of interest policy

Failure of members to declare all conflict of interests or failure to declare an interest with the potential for conflict may be considered as a prima facie breach of trust towards the Charities Regulator. In the event that the Charities Regulator discovers or is made aware that a declaration is incomplete, clarification of the situation is sought from the individual concerned with the objective of resolving any possible conflict. In the meantime, the person may not be involved in any Board or Committee activity. Appropriate corrective action will be taken following due process, which may include sanction as provided for under Schedule 1 of the Charities Act 2009.

Staff of the Charities Regulator

All staff are made aware of, and comply with, their obligations under Section 10 of Schedule 1 of the Charities Act 2009 relating to a material interest, or otherwise any contracts, agreements or arrangements. The Code of Conduct for staff members is an important element of the overall framework within which all staff are expected to work. It sets out the standards required of staff in the discharge of their duties.

9.4 Obligations under the Ethics Acts

The Charities Regulator provides guidance to workers in charities on the procedures to be followed when making a protected disclosure to the Charities Regulator.

9.6 Non-compliance with statutory obligations

If a member of the Board finds evidence that there is non-compliance with any statutory obligations that apply to the Charities Regulator, he/she should immediately bring this to the attention of the Chairperson with a view to having the matter rectified in line with the Code. The Code also requires that the matter should be brought to the attention of the Minister by the Chairperson indicating

- (i) the consequence of such non-compliance and
- (ii) the steps that have been or will be taken to rectify the matter. It is the responsibility of the Board to address such matters and that any concerns of members that cannot be resolved, are formally recorded in the minutes of the Board meeting.

10.1 Standing Orders of the Board

The Standing Orders which are made under section 13 and paragraph 5(6) of Schedule 1 of the Charities Act 2009, set out the terms under which meetings of the Board are convened. In certain circumstances a decision of the Charities Regulator's Board may be required between meetings. The Board has established Standing Orders to facilitate decisions between scheduled meetings.

The minutes of Board meetings are published on the Charities Regulator's website following approval of the minutes for publication by the Board.

10.3 Professional Advice

The Charities Regulator adheres to the guidelines covering payment of fees to the Chairpersons and Members of the Board and its committees. The Annual Report and Financial Statements of the Charities Regulator includes a schedule of the fees and aggregate expenses paid to Members.

11. Assurance, Audit and Compliance Arrangements

The Board and its committees approve audit/compliance programmes of action, set deadlines, review priorities, and are kept informed of progress. It is the responsibility of the FARG committee to advise the Board on whether an appropriate regime of internal control (financial and other), risk management and governance is in operation, while the responsibility remains with the Board to have an effective internal control system.

Internal control systems includes a number of sub-systems, including internal financial, operational and compliance controls, internal and risk management strategies. The Board reviews the effectiveness of these systems annually.

The following are ways in which the Board monitors progress:

11.1 Business and Financial Reporting

The Board prepares a corporate strategy spanning three years and on an annual basis a Business Plan is prepared which sets out how the corporate strategy will be implemented. This is monitored by the Board at their meetings through the receipt of updates from the Chief Executive, the updated Business Plan Tracker, the updated Corporate Risk Register and updates from the Chairs of the committees.

The Chief Executive is responsible for arranging the preparation of the Annual Report and Financial Statements in accordance with relevant accounting standards which are submitted to the Board for approval, for onward submission to the Minister for Rural and Community Development.

11.3 Internal Audit

The oversight of the Internal Audit function in the Charities Regulator is part of the FARG Committee’s duties. The performance of the internal audits is outsourced to a professional services firm. The purpose of internal audit is to give assurance to the Charities Regulator that its operations are conducted according to the highest standards by providing an independent, objective assurance function and by advising best practice. The Internal Auditors examine, and evaluate, the adequacy and effectiveness of the Charities Regulator’s system of internal controls throughout the organisation. A three year Strategic Internal Audit Plan is developed and approved by the FARG Committee. There is an Internal Audit Charter which sets out the purpose, authority and responsibility of the Internal Auditors within the Charities Regulator. The assurances provided by Internal Audit facilitates the signing of the Statement of Internal Controls (SIC) by the Chairperson of the Board.

11.5 Risk Management Framework

The Charities Regulator is exposed to a range of potential risks which, were they to materialise, would impact adversely on its ability to service the needs of its stakeholders, and meet its statutory remit. The management of these risks involves identifying them, evaluating the likelihood of them occurring, assessing their potential impact and likelihood, and taking steps to mitigate them, by either reducing the likelihood of them occurring, or their impact. The Charities Regulator has a Risk Management Framework (includes a Risk Management Policy, a Risk Appetite statement and Corporate Risk Register) which provides a structure for managers and their teams to consider how they manage risk, and the strategies to mitigate them.

The Charities Regulator's Chief Risk Officer ("the CRO") reports both to the FARG Committee, and to the Board. The CRO and the Executive Team conduct regular reviews and updates of the Charities Regulator's Corporate Risk Register and put plans and actions in place to successfully mitigate identified risks. High level risks and strategic corporate risks are logged on the Corporate Risk Register and are reviewed by both the FARG Committee and the Board at each of their meetings.
